

Taxable Income from U.S. Government Sources

Important State Tax Information 2017

Direct Obligations of the U.S. Government

Federal law prohibits all states from imposing an income tax on the interest income from direct obligations of the U.S. government.

Indirect Obligations of the U.S. Government

Some indirect obligations of the U.S. government, such as government-sponsored enterprises, agencies and U.S. territories, may also be excluded from state taxation. For U.S. Territory Obligations' sources of income, please contact the USAA Tax Center at 800-531-6347. However, states sometimes vary in exempting indirect obligations from state taxation.

Other Considerations

Several states impose a requirement on mutual funds to invest a minimum percentage of their assets in exempt federal obligations in order to allow the pass-through treatment of earnings from federal obligations. Income earned on the Government Securities obligations and repurchase agreements is typically NOT considered earned from a direct U.S. obligation and is therefore generally NOT exempt from state personal income taxes.

The chart on this page shows various types of income earned by each fund. This percentage breakdown of 2017 Ordinary Dividends (Box 1a on Form 1099-DIV) by source may be of use to you, depending on the tax laws of your state or local taxing authority.
